This week THE PINE CONE begins association with a new publisher, Don Marshall, a newcomer to Carmel.

Formerly publicity director of the hotel division of the Del E. Webb Corporation of Phoenix, Marshall also operated weekly newspapers in Arizona.

Previously, he was employed by the Arizona Republic and before that he was on the staff of Life Magazine.

Educated at Michigan State College and University of the Americas in Mexico City, Marshall began his professional newspaper career as makeup editor of the Mexico City News in 1951. He remembers that period with a special fondness, he says, since the paper was printed in English and not a soul in the shop spoke anything but Spanish.

He served in the then U.S. Air Corps from 1946 through 1949 and was stationed in Japan for two years.

Carmel Cited: 18 Years Without a Pedestrian Death

Carmel this week was presented a "Pedestrian Safety Citation" award by the American Automobile Association in recognition of the city's astounding record of 18 years without a single pedestrian traffic fatality.

The citation, recognizing the city for its accomplishments in the AAA nationwide pedestrian program, was presented to the council by Bruce V. Lord, district manager of the California State Automobile Association.

In commenting on the award, Lord said, "The encouraging reduction in pedestrian deaths (in recent years) can be directly attributed to the excellent record made by Carmel and other cities."

Budget Adopted, Tax Set in Brief Session

In a very brief meeting Wednesday evening the Carmel city council adopted a municipal budget and a property tax rate for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1964.

The new budget totals $588,112, an increase of nearly $46,000 over last year's budget. The new tax rate adopted is 94½ cents per $100 of assessed valuation, an increase of 10½ cents.

Even with a discussion of accounting procedures concerned with the capital outlay fund, the meeting ended just 25 minutes after it began.

Hootenanny Set for Friday Night

A "fireside" hootenanny, open to the public will be held Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Carmel Legion Hall as a benefit for the youth organization of the Church in the Round.

Heading the list of folksingers at the event will be Kit Snow, 12-string guitarist who won prominence as a singer in Los Angeles and San Francisco prior to moving recently to Carmel.

Snow has appeared as a regular at the Hungry i and the Purple Onion in San Francisco, on the Theodore Bikel show over KPFA in Berkeley and as a guest artist on CBS television.

Impressario of the show and also a performer will be Eleanor Wallace of Carmel, who appeared at the recent Monterey Folk Festival with her 11-string Baroque lute. Also a guitarist and composer, Mrs. Wallace is a veteran of six years as a radio performer in Iowa where, as a teenager, she had her own regular show. She later worked in television in Detroit.

The two will be joined on stage by a talented group of students and recent graduates of Carmel High School, including Mike Sherry, and her guitar; the Al Nishimura, Bob Wells and Jay Lange folk trio; Steve Shore, a comic, and dancers Erica Steinberger and Carol Stewart.

Tickets are available in Carmel at the Murle Ogden Studio, in Pacific Grove at the Forest Hill Studio or from any member of the youth group of the Church in the Round. A few tickets may also be available at the door Friday evening, according to John Anderson of Carmel, who is adult advisor to the young people's organization.

The brave have died for it

Failtje Clan Stuart!

Sunday afternoon at 1:30 p.m. the major traffic on Ocean Ave. will be plaid and the honking of horns will be inundated in the cacophony of pipes. The Stuart Highlanders Bagpipe Band will be on the march. Composed of amateurs from the Bay Area, they comprise the top Northern California pipe band. Follow them to the Forest Theater where they will appear in concert, free to the public at 2:00 p.m. This year Highland dances will be added to the program. Duke Everts will be the Master of Ceremonies.

Sponsored by the Carmel Arts Commission and the businessmen and citizens of the community, the pipers receive no compensation, though they command excellent fees elsewhere. Their reward is a party given for them on Saturday night, by private subscription, a Sunday morning breakfast and the Carmelites enjoyment of their music. See you there?

No Poles for Carmel

(from the Watsonville Register Pajaronian)

All you have to do to make a public utility executive turn red in the face is to remark that poles and wires aren't very pretty, and maybe there ought to be a law requiring that utility services all be underground.

Usually, the executives go into a long song and dance about the horrible expense. This melts the hearts of city councilmen, and that's the end of the discussion.

But it doesn't work everywhere.

City councilmen in Carmel, for instance, didn't lie down obediently and roll over when the subject was brought up three years ago. They kept insisting. And Pacific Gas & Electric agreed to a series of conferences. An ordinance has emerged.

The ordinance sets up an underground utility district, covering about two-thirds of downtown Carmel. It states the council's intention that poles, wires and "associated overhead structures" shall be gone from about 25 per cent of the area by 1968, 50 per cent by 1973, 75 per cent by 1978 and 100 per cent by 1983.

Utility firms will meet the expense of underground construction in street and sidewalk areas. Connecting facilities will be paid for by owners or lessees of the property served.

Only a handful of communities in PG&E's 206-city service area have such laws. They're the ones which faced up to the utility and insisted.

Feathers... From the Shaft

No. 20

By Harry The Fletcher

Welcome news for fatty persons: comes there now a few reversions. Re the myth that overweight is bad "per se"; for a medico has written that to eat and just be sittin' is not a mortal sin in any way.

It isn't what goes in yer, says this doctor from Virginia — just look how many oldsters here are fat. If your build is staunch or gothic, you're not certainly neurotic, and has no effect on what's beneath your hat.

So no more the tearful diet, and no more the fear to "fry it," let joy be free of care and unrefined. No more need we be stealthy — we can eat and still be healthy, and thank our lucky stars for peace of mind.

Ladies May Laugh Last

(From the Insider's Newsletter)

The fact may be out of the fire again for diet faddists. Latest in the round-robin battles over whether you can be both flabby and fit, or must choose between the two, is a report from a Virginia physician who claims that fat people may have the last laugh after all. In a just-published Medical Times article, Dr. Martel J. Dailey of Readville calls the idea that all obesity is harmful "one of the greatest modern medical delusions" and denies categorically the prevailing theory that overweight is necessarily a health hazard. Key contradiction to this theory, says Dr. Dailey: The fact that there are fat, old people.

Dr. Dailey other bids of solace for the paunchy set: (1) You may be right after all, if you've always said you inherited your tendency to gain (he doesn't subscribe at all to the current psychological school that says you overeat because you're neurotic). (2) Too many doctors blame too many serious illnesses on overweight simply because it's the easiest defect to spot (he notes there has never been a long-term control study comparing relative incidence of disease among a group of overweights with incidence among a group of ex-fatties who have reduced). (3) Diet and calorie intake often play a minor role in overweight (some people have a "built-in 1,000-calorie" quota and never utilize more than that; no matter how much they eat; thus the diet drop-out who complains that "everything I eat turns to fat" may be vindicated at last). (4) Current popular pressure to lose weight has made stop-and-start dieting a national disease, which may be doing overweights more harm than good. Dr. Dailey's last word: Unsuccessful diets cause repeated stress; psychologically, you'd be better off remaining on "the permanent fat plateau."

DOG DAYS IN AUGUST

During the dog days of August, remember if you leave us at home while you go picnicing that we need a lot of fresh water and shade, as we dehydrate (word derives from hydrant, probably) very easily. Naturally, we'd rather go along, in which case, the same rules apply.

Write to us about your pets, won't you? We can't read very well but we love to play with the envelopes while somebody else does. Post Cards are especially chewy.

The natural, non-resinous preservatives in redwood make this wood naturally fire-resistant. (Don't test the theory while camping in the forest, however).

Winter sports patrons make more than 1.5 million visits annually to about 100 different snow sport areas in California. (A delight to bone surgeons).

New Restaurant Opens

Last Tuesday night marked the formal opening of The Breakers, a new restaurant located in Steinbeck Circle on Cannery Row. Operated by Mary Jane Lee and Betty Parker, the establishment features a handsome decor of silvery wood paneled walls and welcoming red carpets. Spacious windows provide a view of the bay. An excellent kitchen provides steaks, seafoods and the house specialty; boneless chicken encasing rice pilaf, served with mushroom sauce. The sound of music for dancing may be heard every night from 8:30 p.m., as provided by the Neil Armstrong combo.

San Francisco has operated under five charters, granted in 1850, 1856, 1861, 1898 and 1932. (Heaven knows when they'll get the next one).

Where There's Life...

By Andre Hope

Imagine a place where you can dine in a Japanese Country inn, go to the Bus Stop for a few dances, and a game of billiards, have a hair-do at midnight and end the evening drinking espresso coffee and listening to opera in an Italian restaurant. Where else but San Francisco? I know because I did all those things on one recent evening. The Japanese inn is the Mingei-ya a charming place on Union Street that everyone has secretly discovered — so it's packed, of course. The waitresses wear peasant costumes and overwhelm you with service and giggles. No chrome or usual restaurant equipment can be seen; all the necessary plates and utensils are kept in lovely chests and baskets. The specialty of the house, which arrives at the table with a long-stemmed carnation for the lady, utilizes much the same ingredients as suki-yaki except that they are cooked (or rather lightly boiled) in a fire-pot, like those used by Carmel's own excellent Gobi Inn, and served with a tangy, somewhat creamy sauce. After the meal is eaten the sauce is added to the broth in which the food was cooked and is sipped before dessert. I can highly recommend the place and might add that the prices are as pleasing as the food.

The Bus Stop mentioned is a sort of saloon (oops, cocktail lounge) located not far from the Mingei-ya where you can dance to the juke box and play a game of pool or billiards in the back (Continued on Page Sixteen)

NEW FASHION HOUSE

Sixth Avenue Originals, a stimulating new fashion house, was introduced to Carmel last Wednesday with a showing at June Simpson's restaurant.

Operated by Suzanne Snyder who designs and articulates these unique ensembles with the expert assistance of her mother Mame, the shop is located in Cypress Lane. Mame and Suzanne are ready to assist, in any way, the woman searching for the unusual. To be well dressed a woman should be at all times comfortable as well as chic. Suzanne solves the problem with expert draping, cutting and fitting; special attention is stressed and the outstanding strived for. Alterations and restyling of favorite garments can now be accomplished.

Mrs. Snyder returns to Carmel after a ten year absence. She formerly operated the Suze originals above the old O'Keefe shop on Dolores, and believes that this is the best possible of all places in which to raise her young daughters.

FIRE!

CARMEL VALLEY

Last Monday the resuscitator squad of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department was called to the home of Douglas Jeffreys of East Carmel Valley road at 12:19 a.m.

After administering aid to Mr. Jeffreys who had experienced difficulty in breathing, he was taken to the Community Hospital.

The department responded to a call from the Truman Scarlett property in the village at 3:07 p.m. Monday to extinguish a grass fire which burned approximately 100 square feet. The origin was undetermined and no damage resulted.

CARMEL

Last Tuesday at 4:24 p.m. a fire was extinguished in a foreign car belonging to Gene Baquio of Salinas at Crespy and Flanders. The car suffered extensive damages.

Wednesday at 3:02 p.m. the volunteers attempted to save the blazing car of Fred Martinez on San Carlos. The car was a total loss.

9:51 p.m. on Torres between 4th and 5th another car fire was successfully dealt with. No damage.

A burning station wagon in the Post Office parking lot, belonging to J. H. Gledhill of Carmel, was saved when firemen removed a burning rag from the engine.

A smoldering fire against a retaining wall which suddenly burst into flames at the Crespi and Flanders home of George Walker found 21 men and 6 pieces of equipment responding to a call. The wall and surrounding brush were damaged.

CARMEL HILL STATION

Three calls in one day were received. At 11:25 a.m., a grass fire in the Monterey Peninsula Country Club Area. The cause was the careless disposal of hot ashes which burned over a quarter of an acre before held in check.

At 11:30 a.m. a call to the Woods School proved to be a false alarm.

At 11:56 a.m., a grass fire in the Del Monte forest caused by children playing with matches. Another quarter of an acre. The fire was successfully contained and the children disciplined.

Father Serra's Home Featured

Father Junipero Serra's birthplace on the Mediterranean island of Mallorca will be featured in the City and County of San Francisco exhibit at the 1963 California State Fair and Exposition which will open in Sacramento Aug. 28.

The house in which the California mission founder was born in the Mallorcan town of Petra 250 years ago on Nov. 24, 1713 is owned by San Francisco, to whom it was given by the Rotary Club of Palma, Mallorca, in 1932.

The exhibit will show the main living room in the ancient Serra home and, by manipulation of lighting, three scenes from Serra's life — a street scene in Petra near his home, Serra building a California mission with the aid of Indians and Mission Dolores in San Francisco, the sixth mission founded by Father Serra.

The varied climate and terrain of California makes possible the commercial production of some 200 different farm commodities, several times as many as any other state.

John Scott Harrison had the distinction of being the only Presidential son to become the father of a President.

The Order of the Purple Heart was established by George Washington in 1782.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

There are three interesting novels this week, one of them being a translation from another language, namely German. Uwe Johnson won the International Publishers Prize for his novel Speculations About Jakob. He began his literary career by translating certain English and American writers into German, and now his own novel is in turn translated into English. This is the story of Jakob Abs who refused to cooperate with the Soviet espionage agents and returned to his home in East Germany only to die. Then began the conversations, the remembrances, the speculations about Jakob which make up the book. Fine writing here.

The first novel written in English by Vimala Raina is entitled Ambapali. It tells of the first woman admitted by Buddha into his fold in ancient India about 600 B. C. The story is based upon fact and an introduction to the book gives historical background which should prove valuable to the reader.

Norah Loftis has done a trilogy of novels about houses in an older England. With her new book she turns from her trilogy and does a book about Ann Boleyn and the England of Henry VIII. It is called The Concubine.

An informal history of the Marine Corps is called The Leather- necks. It is made up from articles in the Marine's magazine, which began publication during the first World War, and has been edited for many years by Karl Schuon, who also edited this book.

Masterpieces of Murder sheds more light on the case of Lizzie Borden who gives "her father forty whacks" or something of the kind. It was edited by Gerald Gross from the writings of Edmund Pearson, the master reporter on murder.

Thomas Merton has written Life and Holiness, which is said to explain the New Testament doctrine of the Christian life in the language of our age.

An anthology of writings by American Negroes is called Soon, One Morning. It was edited by Herbert Hill and contains writings by twenty five top-flight negro writers including Langston Hughes, James Baldwin, and Gwendolyn Brooks. The book is dedicated to Richard Wright, who was working on an essay intended for this book at the time he died, in Paris in 1960.

And when you get all in a snit about taxes, inflation, and government debt, we have a new book which should at least answer your questions, whether or not it quiets your tears. It is entitled A Primer On Government Spending and it was written by Dr. Robert Heilbroner of Harvard, and Peter Bertschein, an investment counselor. It is a small book which begins this way "This book springs from the belief that many people are worried about government spending . . . and that takes in just about all of us!"

PAWS for COMMENT

By PH. T. PH. H. & B. T. H. McG.

We always think of this time of the year as the dog days, so imagine our surprise on receiving an unexpected visit yesterday from, of all things, a genuine, tame black bird! He fixed us with a beady eye, extended a friendly claw and introduced himself as Mr. Mooch, a member of the family of Yvonne and James West. The family also includes five children, a cat, Mr. Chips, and three turtles. Mooch explained that he was something the cat dragged in, literally, a year ago when the family was staying in Colorado Springs. He proceeded to make himself at home and the cat hasn't been quite the same since. A free-swinging bird, our friend likes to sun bathe. Recently while indulging in his favorite pastime on the beach, he mistook a sea gull for his deadly enemy, the hawk, and almost drowned in an escape attempt. Mr. Mooch is strictly a bachelor. We understand that when he was recently introduced to a charming lady of his ilk, he ran and hid behind his master and mistress. How silly — we would never do a thing like that — we don't think.

He tells us that he has also had some schooling, having attended parochial school with one of the younger Wests, where he joined in the singing lessons.

His mistress, like ours, is another rare bird, a native Californian, which, of course, we are as well. However, the young ones were born in Carmel, Germany, Japan, Illinois and other such exotic lands.

As Mooch flapped a wing at us in departing he mentioned that all of them, including the three turtles (in pocket) will be traveling to Germany very soon. He added that he is also the grandbird of Mr. and Mrs. A. Ferrera of Carmel.

We would like to remind all of our friends to visit the Pebble Beach Horse Show this week-end — on leash — and don't miss the Monterey County Fair which has an old-fashioned theme this year.

WHAT'S DOING

Did you know that we use fire to help save you money? In big furnaces, scraps of telephone wire are melted down; then the metal is used to make new wire. In fact, we gather up all worn-out telephone equipment and salvage and renew all reusable parts. Damaged phone booths, for example, are rebuilt good as new, and even the cartons new telephones come in are used over and over. These are just some of the things that help keep down the cost of telephone service to you.

With an extension wallphone next to your workbench, you can stay on the job while you take or make calls. Sure saves a lot of steps.

It's always a good idea to teach your youngsters how to use the telephone at an early age. You never know when they might have to use the phone in an emergency. Perhaps one of the first things they should know is how to reach the Operator. She's always a willing source of help.

You'd be surprised how often people miss parts of a telephone conversation when the other party doesn't speak directly into the mouthpiece. It's a helpful point to remember whenever you make a call.

Old Dobbin's not the only one who knows about nosebags. Take a look in back of one of our service trucks and you may well see a nosebag, along with a beatin' iron. In plain talk, these are a canvas tool bag, and a hammer. We've nicknamed a lot of the equipment we use to serve you. So, if you hear a telephone man on a stick ask for his hand shoes, you'll know he's on a telephone pole and wants his gloves.

Street Seen

A large blue bus parked on 9th just off Dolores with Texas license plates. After giving the weary driver a ride into town it was discovered that he was conducting a tour of fourteen ladies from Dallas. Their itinerary included Los Angeles, San Francisco, the major National Parks and where else? — Carmel. It seems one of the ladies is, as he put it, "A subscriber to your paper here."

After the tour is completed, the ladies will take off en masse for Hawaii. The driver, we presume, will go fishing with an all male group.

Teacher's Degree

Miss Jean Fowler and Mrs. Barbara Williams will also have their cards on display as illustrations of their different methods and approach. Each Greeting received next Christmas will be seen with new eyes after this program by those who make them.

All interested are invited. Tea will be served following the program.

County Bar Group Announces Service

A new public service, designed to aid persons who may be in need of legal advice and who don't know a lawyer, was announced today by the Monterey County Bar Association.

The activity is a nonprofit Lawyers' Reference Service, which will make referrals to a local lawyer who, for a $5.00 fee, will hold an initial half-hour consultation.

It is sponsored by the County Bar Association and endorsed by the California State Bar and the American Bar Association, according to Kenneth A. Ehrman, chairman of the association's Lawyers' Reference Committee.

Persons desiring referral to a lawyer may call 424-1401 if in the Salinas area, or 375-9889 from the Monterey Peninsula.

Referrals by the new Service will be made on a rotation basis to members of the panel, all of whom are members of the Monterey County Bar Association.

The committee in charge is empowered to arbitrate any complaints, disputes, and grievances arising between an attorney and a person referred to him by the Service.

Other committee members are: Malcolm S. Millard, Peter J. Coniglio, Henry B. Fulton, William L. Stewart, and Edson G. Thomas.

Qualifications for teaching in colonial days required little more of the teacher than stern discipline and ability to read and write. (And at times to think?)

The California Legislature in 1862 offered a $3,000 premium for the first 100 bales of cotton of 300 pounds each produced in the State.

LAW IN ACTION

GET OFF MY LAND

When your neighbor encroaches on your land, you had better protect your interest. Otherwise you may wake up some day to find that you have lost some of your land or its use. You may not find out about this loss for years, perhaps not until a new neighbor or you yourself make a survey.

Consider having an engineer's survey made when you buy a piece of land. Check your title insurance policy to see if it protects you. As a rule, standard land title policies cover only items down in public records such as easements, rights of way, delinquent taxes, and other matters of record at the time of purchase.

So, check your land not only when you buy it but from time to time afterwards. Suppose Jones puts his house partly on your land. As a rule, you can make him move that part of it that overlaps your lot—unless he has gained "adverse possession" of it by your failure to act in time. To gain adverse possession Jones must show that he has had his building on your land for five years or more, has paid taxes on the strip, and has claimed the land as his own.

Jones might also claim the permanent use of the land in question if he can show that the same person once owned both your lot and his, and built the Jones' building partly on your lot before selling to Jones and to you.

Trees may grow over on to your land. If the trunks are on the boundary line, you and your neighbor own them jointly. If so, neither can cut nor harm them without the other's consent. Trees on a neighbor's land may spread branches or roots over onto your land. You can cut them off or sue to have them removed.

You can remove a fence that is wrongly placed onto your land if it was mistakenly put there.

Suppose you and your neighbor agreed to place the fence where it is, or use it as placed for a considerable time without protest, even though it is not on the true boundary line. Then most likely this line will be regarded in law as the true boundary line binding on both neighbors.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

SENATOR FRED S. FARR (D), Monterey County, has been appointed Chairman of the important Senate Permanent Fact Finding Committee on Natural Resources. "This study committee" said Farr "has been instrumental in securing major programs for the protection and enhancement of the state's natural resources. Because of the constant encroachment and growing demands on the natural resources from our burgeoning population, the responsibilities of this committee become increasingly vital."

Senator Farr noted that the committee study areas include oil, gas, mines, soil conservation, small craft harbors, forestry, fish and game, recreation, beaches and parks and the public domain.

Farr is chairman of the Standing Committee on Natural Resources which considers bills in those areas during legislative sessions. He is also a member of the fact finding committees on Education and Judiciary and represents California on the Uniform State Laws Commission.

Senator Farr has authored many measures in the field of natural resources, successfully securing passage in the 1963 regular session of a bill establishing the Pacific Grove Marine Gardens; another bill permitting the acquisition of Aptos Forest for the State Park System, and a bill which removed the state bounty on mountain lions. Farr's scenic highway bills constitute a major step toward providing special scenic conservation treatment of certain of the state's highways. He also co-authored the committee's important fire prevention bill designed to reduce the number of fire starts through enforceable prevention activities.

Washington, D. C., July 25, 1963. Congressman Burt L. Talcott (California, 12th District) announced that the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs today approved his bill to transfer to the State of California Federally held mineral rights in a tract of land recently added to the Julia Pfeiffer Burns State Park. The United States retained the mineral rights in the land which was originally patented in 1928 to Aaron W. Harlan. Last year, California acquired title to the 240 acre tract through a gift deed from Helen Hooper Brown for an addition to the state park, but the U. S. still retained the mineral rights.

"Passage of my bill will permit full development of the additional land for park purposes," said Talcott. "Present information indicates there are no minerals in the land. If none are found between the time my bill passes and California files an application for the rights, the only expense to the state will be the administrative cost incurred in conveying the title."

Talcott said he would exert every effort for early passage of the bill by the House and Senate.

Parking Tickets Ready

One thousand Reserved Parking Tickets are now available for the August 31 concert by Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic at the Monterey County Fairgrounds, it has been announced by Dana Attractions Inc., producer of the Labor Day Weekend Event.

Priced at $1.50, the special parking ticket entitles the purchaser to a reserved parking space at the Park Drive-In Theatre located directly opposite the Fairgrounds Main Entrance. As a capacity attendance of more than 8,000 persons is expected for the Philharmonic's only West Coast appearance outside of Los Angeles, concertgoers are urged to avoid a possible parking problem by ordering their reserved parking tickets without delay.

The parking coupons, as well as all remaining tickets for the August 31 concert itself, are on sale at Abinante Music in Monterey. Tickets for the concert only are also available at Central Box Office in Carmel; Gadsby Music in Salinas, and Allen-Smith Pianos in Santa Cruz.

Summer Visitor, Early 1900's

Here is a photo of a well-known Carmel resident when she was a summer visitor "a few summers ago." The setting is the courtyard of the Pine Inn. A bottle of Weibel Rose wine will be given to the first person correctly identifying the young lady.

SUMMER SCENE

Washed by the sun's pail of warm, gold light
Fields stand beckoning children tonight.
Through fences and back yards like unmannered hens
This way and that way, cartwheels on ends
They run through the tall grass, now crackly spires
Their arms and legs like bendable wires.
Children are actors. Earth's stage is theirs
Climbing the rafter's wooden stairs.
Children are failling through straw colored hay
And oh! could we follow — which road, which way?

—MARY ANN PUTMAN

WHARF

Quietly, pleadingly, the shadows
Grow from the Buildings of the Cities
And reach out over the harbor.
A gentle mist enshrouds
The bay and the wharves — Fingers,
Outstretched into a Sea, resting over
The wavering, shimmering, undulating
Images of Time's fancies,
Abstract Symbols of insignificant prisoners,
Aspiring, but never ascending to Reality.
A bell rings, beckoning the Arrival of a Boat with a Catch.
Two lovers — actors, pawns of Time —
Stand looking at the fisherman
And then look out into the mist.

—MICHAEL PATTERSON

LOVE CAN BE MOTHER

I do not wonder any more about the little girls I never had
For I have seen the tousled curls of other women's daughters
All these years . . . the eyes . . . blue, brown or grey
The fair or dark skinned girls . . . their mysteries of first lipstick
And have been mother in numberless small ways to many lonely ones.

My love goes with them like an amulet for luck
And in some mystic may my mark is on their hearts, their mark on mine.

Segregation
Hit By Educator

"We cannot afford to wait for the housing problem to be solved, the de facto school segregation situation has to be solved now," declared Dr. Eason Monroe, executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union of Southern California, in a talk Sunday evening at the Monterey Public Library.

Referring to the historic U. S. Supreme Court decision of 1954, which found that separate schools are inherently unequal, Dr. Monroe stated that this decision not only applies to Southern states but to all places where residential areas have developed segregated schools.

Dr. Monroe drew upon his experience in Los Angeles to discuss the de facto school segregation problem. He credited the Negro community and its unified and determined leadership with the strength of the civil rights movement in that area. Three demands have been presented to the Los Angeles Board of Education to implement the 1954 decision. One demand is that schools predominantly Negro and located within short distances of predominantly Caucasian schools be deliberately integrated. Another asks that overcrowded Negro schools have surplus students transported to under-enrolled white schools. The third demand notes that 85% of the Negro teaching staff was assigned to Negro schools and had been denied transfers to other than Negro schools. The Board of Education has refused to comply with any of these demands. According to Dr. Monroe, the Board has disclaimed any responsibility for the present de facto segregation.

Dr. Monroe feels that the recent California State Supreme Court decision on the Pasadena School Board case which held that school boards could not gerrymander school areas on a racial basis to be historically important for it also held that school boards have the "affirmative duty" to fix school districts to balance racial distribution. Dr. Moore interprets this to mean that a school board cannot merely say: "We don't discriminate" but must work actively to balance school populations racially.

Dr. Monroe foresaw the final solution of the de facto school segregation only when Caucasian parents realize their children are not receiving a full and equal education if not seated in a school opposite pupils of Oriental, Negro, and Mexican descent.

Dr. Monroe was formerly chairman of the English Department of San Francisco State College.

PADRE TRAILS CAMERA CLUB has been fortunate in securing the top 50 slides from over 4,000 submitted to the Rochester International Color Salon this year. These slides will be shown at the club meeting tonight, following the regular club contests of color slides and black and white prints. Theme for the club contest is "General Subject Material".

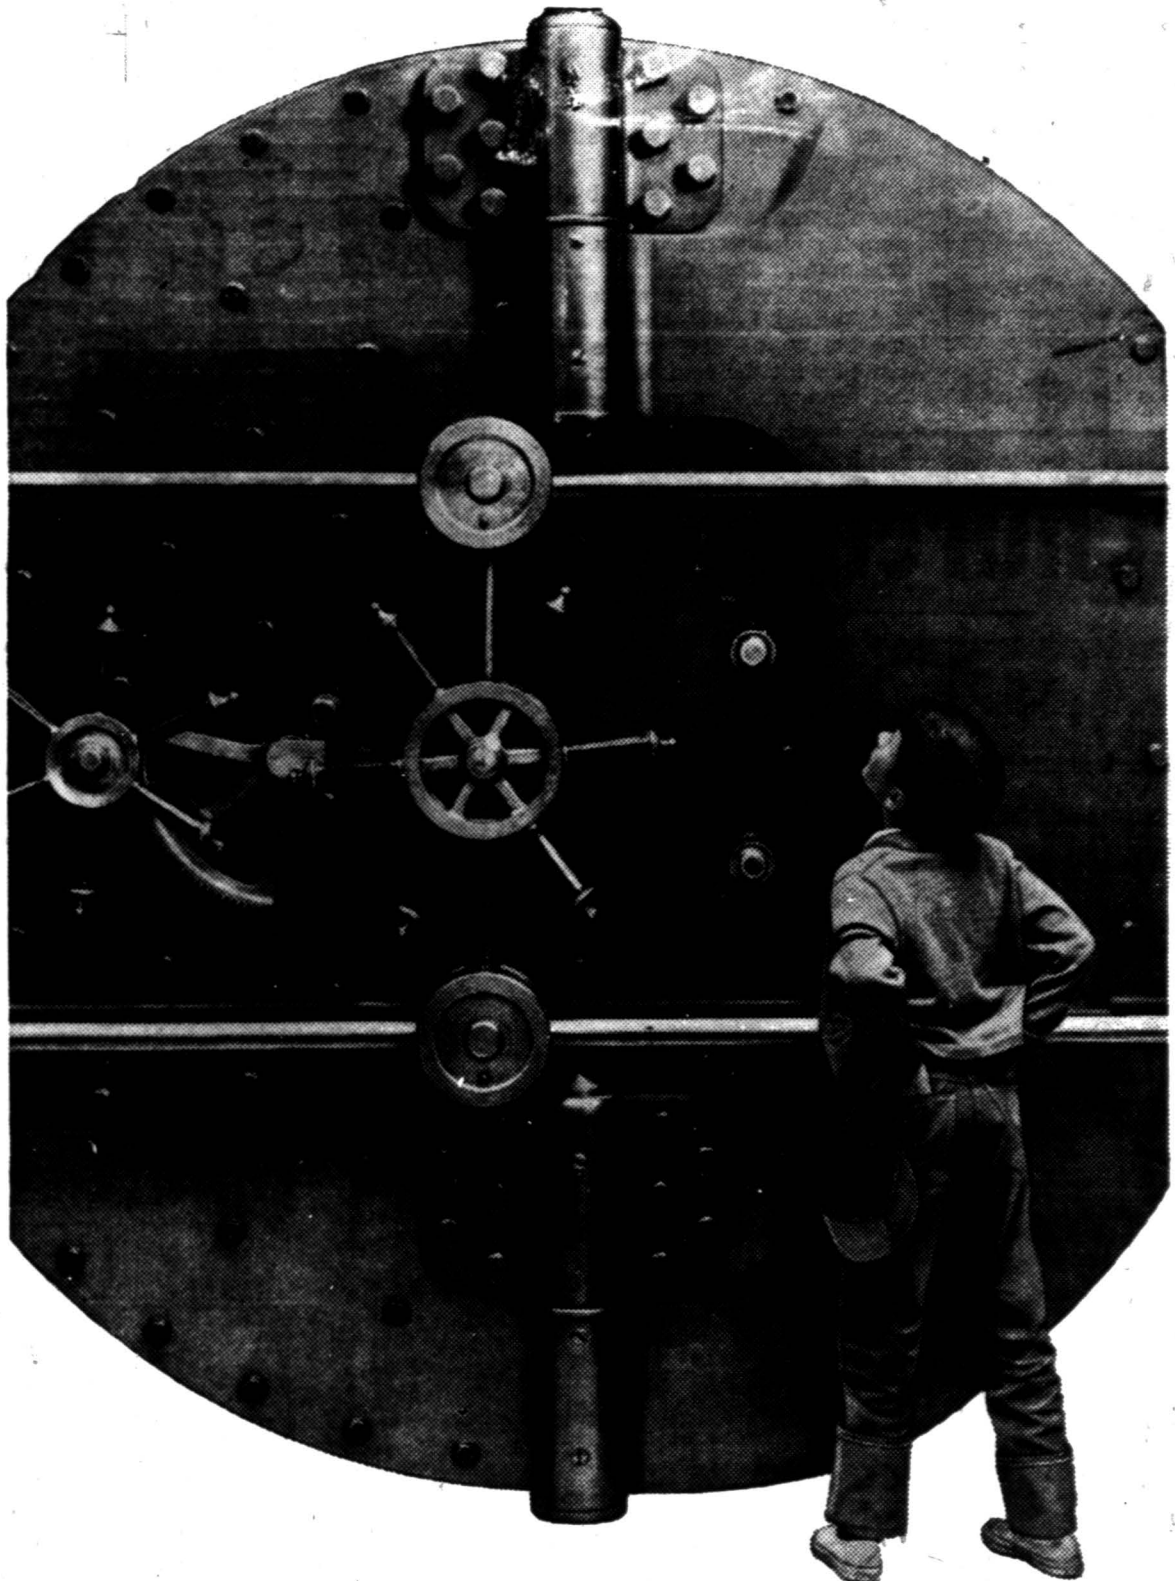

Visitors are invited to attend this meeting and see what type of pictures the judges at an International Salon of Photography such as Rochester, New York consider to be "tops".

The meeting will be held in room 6, Carmel High School, starting at 8:00 p.m.

How to get your money out of a bank.

(Just knock.)

Visiting hours are Monday through Friday. And your money is free to leave with you at any time. That's one of the nice things about keeping your money in a bank. There are other nice things about it, too. While your money is in the bank it makes a lot of friends—for you. And when you want other banking services—loans, credit, financing—you get the service with a smile. If you want your money to get the very best of care, don't just knock on any door. Make sure you always head straight for the bank.

Hot Springs Bridge Opened

Last week the new bridge adjacent to Hot Springs Resort opened with considerable fanfare. Present for the ceremony were Mr. Eugene Herrington, the contractor; Mr. Paul Bohrer, Resident Engineer for the State Division of Highways; Richard Price, operator of the resort and Miss Jane Fonda, actress daughter of Henry Fonda.

The length of the new bridge is 366 feet, 100 feet high at the deepest point and provides 28 feet of travel way. The prestressed concrete girders were the longest ever transported down State Highway 1 and were 88 feet in length. Along with the new structure some 4,000 feet of new roadway was constructed, with a new access road being built to the Hot Springs Resort Lodge.

This bridge is another project constructed by the Division of Highways to provide a safer route along the scenic central California coast.

The job was completed by G. S. Herrington of Auburn after more than 10 months at a cost of approximately $366,000.

Richard Price, who operates the Hot Springs Resort Lodge, located just below the new bridge, is delighted with the completion. Peace and tranquility reign once more.

Letters . . . to The Editor

The following copy of a letter which was received by us is being re-printed as we believe this to be a wise and commendatory move to halt the creeping commercialism which threatens an area that should be dedicated to a way of life in keeping with the ideals of the established residents.

The Monterey County Planning Commission

Salinas, California
Gentlemen,

I transmit herewith for your earnest consideration the following resolution passed unanimously by the Board of Directors of the CARMEL CITIZENS COMMITTEE at its meeting August 6th, 1963.

RESOLVED, that we, the Board of Directors of the CARMEL CITIZENS COMMITTEE, in conformity with the stated Objectives and the policy of our organization, express to the Monterey County Planning Commission our opposition to any proposed gas station or other commercial activity on the north side of the Carmel Valley Road in or near Carmel Knolls, South Carmel Hills or Rancho Rio Vista.

Very truly
C. W. Fisher, President.

Editor, the Pine Cone:

I was interested in the recent letter from "An Upset Taxpayer," and wish to add a footnote to the statement that "people who wish to pick up (strewn papers) can't, for the paper can be packed". Moving to another location in Carmel, in the audience section of the council chamber I believe that the ash containers, in recent months unusable because stuffed full of cigarette stubs, were last emptied in the autumn of 1962.

New Arts Group Formed in Carmel

Incorporation papers for the establishment of the Living Arts and Sciences Foundation were signed this week in Carmel.

The purposes for which this corporation is formed according to the articles of incorporation are:

"For the establishment of a center where the graphic, visual and plastic arts, including painting, sculpture, ceramics and related skills may be encouraged and developed by education and the display of the work of qualified artists in their respective fields of endeavor; to furnish facilities for the sale of such works by the artists; to promote the interchange of artistic concepts and skills within these fields, together with all other functions related thereto."

The Living Arts and Sciences Foundation will have its headquarters at what is now the Helen Matney Ceramic Studios located at Austin and Presidio Sts. in Del Mar Park which is at the beginning of the Pacific Grove-Carmel cut-off.

Negotiations are now under way for the purchase of this property by the Living Arts and Sciences Foundation.

Gabriel McCloud, president and director of the foundation states:

"Essentially, the work of the Living Arts and Sciences Foundation is dedicated to worthwhile persons doing worthwhile things."

"The aim and the general purpose of the Living Arts and Sciences Foundation is to provide facilities for the study, growth, and development of the Arts and Sciences as they relate to the daily living of the individual on a community level."

"To a work consisting mainly of cultural activities, studies, exhibits, classes, lectures and publications will be attached a retail sales facility for the sale of locally produced arts and crafts. The retail sales facility will not only insure a sound economic basis and support for the work of the foundation but will be of financial benefit to the participating artists, teachers, and writers as well as the community at large."

"Old Fashioned Fair" Planned in Monterey

County fairs have been an integral part of the American scene for years. Taking this fact seriously, the directors of the Monterey County Fair have decided to incorporate into this year's August 21-25 event the makings of an Old Fashioned Fair.

"We came up with this new theme rather late in the summer," secretary-manager George Wise said, "but decided to work it in this year rather than save it for the '64 show. We feel we can do a great deal to give the Fairgoer a good taste of 1900."

Hoping the new idea will provide a diversity not before seen in Monterey County, Fair organizers have been involved in research, planning, and quick action. Securing things like tandem bicycles, barber shop quartets, and turn-of-the-century costumes has been no easy task.

The Fair hopes to build a band pavilion for afternoon concerts. Old Fashioned ideas are being worked into floriculture, home economics, commercial, livestock and art exhibits. Other plans entail details involving everything from footraces and hoop rolling contests on Kids Day, August 22, to the "aging" of the Junior Livestock Auction on August 24. (Not an easy task either).

Their jobs cut out for them, Fair workers have found that bringing the 1900's into the present is worth the work it involves - but jumping back 63 years is no easy task.

(Easier than a trip to the moon, though!)

ORGANIZATIONS

Evening at the Beach

The annual Wayfarer Guild picnic is arranged for 6:30 o'clock on Tuesday, August 20 at the Lagoon, each member providing her own food and beverage. As customary, Midge Pittman will be in charge of the fire and requests each member bring a piece of wood. A brief business meeting will be held.

At Carmel Kiwanis luncheon Thursday, Alvin Gluck, a Monterey Kiwanian, spoke on the use of mutual funds investment to combat inflation, offset dollar shrinkage, provide income for the present and for the needs of the future.

The meeting of the Monterey Bay Colony Society of Mayflower descendants will be held at 12 p.m. on August 17 at Cademartori's Casa Maria Inn at San Juan Baptista for the luncheon. The talk will be given by Dr. Rubin Johnson of Monterey Peninsula College. Any descendants of the Mayflower are welcomed. Reservations may be made by phoning 624-7775.

SEEKING SERENITY IN THIS TROUBLED WORLD?

Then lift up your eyes to the peaceful Santa Lucias from every window of a charming house in South Carmel Hills. We sold the present owners this 3 bedroom home for its restful view, when it was new, and now just two years later their business takes them back to San Francisco and their charming, secluded home is available to offer serenity to another family. Quietly carpeted and beautifully shuttered and draped, this home offers the ultimate in terms of convenient, modern facilities and appliances. There's even a large, gracious dining room so hard to find these days. May we show it to you while the owners are away this week? The price is $37,500.

WE HAVE A SECRET WEAPON

And this secret weapon is our Ruth—Mrs. Ruth Clappett, that is—who is our secretary, coffee maker, psychiatrist, morale builder and friend. She can do beautifully all the things with typewriters, and files which are expected of secretaries, but what she does in a way that we feel no one else could do nearly as well is to represent us when we are out of the office (as we are most of the time in this business) with a kind of charm as well as efficiency which we just don't happen to think an impersonal answering service or a sign on the door that we are out showing property can possibly match. In fact, we know that we are very much indebted to our "secret weapon" for our reputation for old-fashioned, personal service to our clients. Stop in and meet her soon.

WHERE THERE LIFE

room. Union Street is really well worth your while as it houses other excellent restaurants, one authentically creole, and a number of decorator and antique shops.

Now about this midnight hair-do, the place is called, aptly enough, The Witches Hut. It is located at Columbus and Kearny in North Beach and is open 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. It is owned by Andy Mann, a third generation wig-maker, and Bill Cordova. The former's ex-profession gives the place much of its character, because many of the customers are wooden wig stands adorned by the hair pieces of some of San Francisco's best known ladies. Don Husted, who roamed bare-fingered through my coiffure, told me that the wigs arrive in the evening, are returned in the morning and the operators have never even seen many of their customers. Some of the clientele that I did see—well—there was this six foot-nine, bearded gentleman waiting patiently for his actress wife to get her two foot hive bee-d, to give you an idea. Oh, yes, and doorman parking, yet, if you please. Mad-bat by the Bay?

In case you are planning a trip to the City in the near future and intend to go to the theater a tip or two: "A Man For All Seasons," si!!!—"Zenda," eeeeee! About the latter I am truly sorry. It seemed such a good idea at the time and, of course, Alfred Drake is all sorts of superlatives in the leading role of a song and dance man pressed into service as a temporary king. The story, taken from the original "Prisoner of Zenda" is a nice, creaky, old thing with the usual "princess hates the real king, loves his substitute, much intrigue, happy ending, lots of generals and prime ministers, "claptrappery." The production, handsomely mounted, but with constant staging bugs, is seemingly endless. One leaves the theater, finally, with a feeling of relief rather than fulfillment. You certainly don't leave humming a tune. There isn't a single outstanding number in the entire piece with the exception, possibly, of the title theme, and you'd need a whole chorus to help you sing that.

"A Man For All Seasons" on the other hand is almost indescribably fine. Beautifully written by Robert Bolt and directed by Noel Willman, it tells the story of Sir Thomas More and Henry the VIII and their conflict over the establishment of the Church of England. There is not one unnecessary word spoken nor futile gesture made. The set is starkly simple and utilized in many ways; as a home, a Bishop's palace, a court-room, a jail and finally a court of execution. The catalyst of the play is a tale told for all men of all ages, especially applicable to our own times. Sir Thomas is played superbly by William Roderick. Michael Lewis ((son of Sinclair)) does an adroit and difficult portrayal of the king. Albert Dekker, as the water spanielish Duke of Norfolk, is outstanding and George Rose, the Common Man, is snide, sly, philosophical, groveling and nose-thumbing by turn. His the exit line, "If you see me around, recognize me!" uncomfortably, I'm afraid we will.

The 23-story Hobart Building at 582 Market St., San Francisco, once the city's tallest skyscraper, has been sold for more than $1.2 million to a local investment group. The city's newest "tallest," the 43-story Wells Fargo Bank Building, will be built adjacent to it, starting immediately.
